1. What is the Prevent Duty?

The Prevent duty is the duty in the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015 on specified authorities, in the exercise of their functions, to have due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism. As a training provider we have a safeguarding duty to ensure we train our staff and learners about the risks posed by terrorists or supporters of terrorist groups and how they try to entice vulnerable people into supporting extremist views and terrorist groups. This is often called radicalisation and we want to stop it before anything bad might happen as a result.

2. What is 20% Off-The-Job-Training?

It is training which is received by the apprentice, during the apprentices normal working hours, for the purpose of achieving the knowledge, skills and behaviours of the approved apprenticeship referenced in the apprenticeship agreement.

Off-the-job training must be directly relevant to the apprenticeship. It can include the following:

- The teaching of theory (for example, lectures, role playing, simulation exercises, online learning, and manufacturer training);
- Practical training, shadowing, mentoring, industry visits, and participation in competitions; or
- Learning support and time spent writing assessments/assignments.

It cannot include:

- Training to acquire knowledge, skills and behaviours that are not required in the standard or framework.
- Progress reviews or on-programme assessment required for an apprenticeship framework or standard; or
- training which takes place outside the apprentice's normal working hours.

3. What does EPA stand for?

End Point Assessment (EPA) is the final assessment for an apprentice to ensure that they can do the job they have been training for. EPA is separate to any qualifications or other assessment that the apprentice may undertake during the on-programme stage of the apprenticeship.

4. To achieve a Level 3 apprenticeship, you will need to have also achieved English & maths at Level 2. True or False.

True. For those undertaking a level 3 or higher apprenticeship, it is a requirement that they hold or achieve an approved level 2 in English and maths before they can successfully complete the apprenticeship.

5. What are British Values? Can you name them?

The government set out their definition of British Values in the 2011 Prevent Strategy. In 2014, the Department of Education published guidance on promoting British Values in schools to ensure young people leave school and college prepared for life in Modern Britain. According to Ofsted, British values are:

- Democracy
- The rule of law
- Individual liberty
- Mutual respect for and tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs and for those without faith.

6. Can you still do an apprenticeship if you have already done an apprenticeship or other type of diploma or degree at the same or higher level?

Yes. The government will fund an apprentice to undertake an apprenticeship at the same or lower level than a qualification they already hold, if the apprenticeship will allow the individual to acquire substantive new skills and you can show that the content of the training is materially different from any prior qualification or a previous apprenticeship.
